

Shell Geography Revision Guide

There are three sections in the exam: Coastal Environments; Limestone Environments; Crime.

You must answer all questions on the paper. The exam is one hour long.

Style of questions:

definitions; descriptions; explanations; completing graphs from data given; extracting information from photographs and pictures; named and place specific examples; understanding geographical terminology; labels and annotations.

Topics: Coastal Environments; Limestone Environments; Crime.

Coastal Environments

Factors affecting the shape of the coastline
Processes of coastal erosion
Features of coastal erosion
Methods of coastal protection

Limestone Environments

Castleton work – familiarisation of area visited
Reasons why tourists visit the area and problems this may cause
Surface and underground features in an area of limestone
Processes that operate in a limestone area

Crime

Who are the victims of crime
Patterns of crime
How is crime measured
What can be done to prevent crime
Drugs: Heroin: Why is it grown? By whom?
Can anything be done to stop organised crime?

Total marks available for this exam will be 80.
Final grade will also include your Castleton Project.